Calling the vet

If the horse is sick or hurt and the barn can't reach me or my emergency contact, the barn may call my vet (or another vet if mine isn't available) and approve the care the vet advises, up to the limit I write below. I pay the vet and the costs of that care.

Initials ☐

Most the barn may approve without reaching me

If more care is needed and no one can be reached

☐ Do what the vet advises, and keep trying to reach me ☐ Keep the horse comfortable until I'm reached

☐ If the vet says the horse is suffering and can't recover, let the vet end its suffering

Farrier and routine care

I'll keep the horse on a regular farrier, deworming and vaccination schedule, or ask the barn to arrange it at my cost.

Initials _____

What you agree to

The care the barn gives

The barn will feed, water and care for the horse as described in this agreement, with the care a careful horse keeper would use.

Initials _____

Horses get hurt, even with good care

I understand horses can be injured, get sick or colic in a stall, in turnout or around other horses, even with good care.

Initials _____

What I pay for

Vet, farrier, dental, deworming, medicines, special feed and supplies the board doesn't list are mine to pay.

Initials _____

Paying board

Board is due on the day shown above each month. If it's late past the grace days shown above, the barn may add the late fee shown above.

Initials _____

Ending the agreement

Either of us can end this agreement with 30 days' written notice, and board is due through the notice period. The horse leaves only once the account is settled, unless the barn agrees otherwise in writing.

Initials _____

When I ride or handle my horse here

I understand riding and handling horses carries risk, even my own horse: horses can kick, bite, buck, rear, spook or bolt without warning. Anyone I bring to the barn signs the barn's waiver first.

Initials _____

Keeping this current

I'll update the horse's records, my contacts and my vet whenever they change, and sign this agreement again each year.

Initials _____

Photos of your horse

Barn rules

I'll follow the barn's posted hours, safety rules and arena rules, and make sure anyone I bring follows them too.
